

CITY IN CRUSADE ON LUNCH ROOMS AND DIRTY STORES

Food Must Be Protected From Flies, Health Department Rules.

That a strict enforcement of the health regulations would result in the prosecution of 75 per cent of the lunch rooms for failure to properly protect food from flies, was the statement today of an official of the Health Department, which is conducting a vigorous campaign for cleanliness in the eating places and grocery stores.

Conditions as to general cleanliness, it was said, are not nearly as bad as were discovered by the Health Department two years ago.

The principal cause of complaint on the part of the authorities in the present instance is the failure of proprietors to properly protect food. Since May 1 the department has entered prosecution against the owners of ten lunch rooms under the regulations which provide that every manager of a store, dairy market, cafe, lunch room, or any other place in the District where food, beverage, or confectionery is sold or offered for sale, shall cause it to be effectually protected from flies by screens or power driven fans. The number of prosecutions entered against proprietors of grocery stores within the last two weeks is twenty-five.

"While a better showing would be made to the public if the number of prosecutions were increased, it is found that better results are obtained by gentler methods," said an official of the Health Department today.

"The inspectors have found that in nearly every case the proprietor is willing to comply with the regulations when he is told he is violating the law. A second inspection is made later, and if it is found that the proprietor has made no effort to comply with the ordinance he is brought into court."

Mary Sheridan in Hunt For Long Missing Brother

Seeking to bridge a gap of thirty years, Miss Mary Sheridan "of the County Kilkenny, God bless it," called at Police Headquarters this morning, and interested the police in locating her brother, Michael Sheridan.

So Captain Boardman promised to do what he could to aid her. Miss Mary Sheridan lives at 1371 D street southwest, and has been in Washington for many years. She, with her young brother landed in Quebec back in 1882. They had been but one day in the quaint old French town when he cut himself loose from the apron strings of Mary Sheridan, then a young colleen, and struck out for himself.

For twenty years she heard nothing from him. Then came word from the little Kilkenny hamlet that they had received a paper from the missing one. It had come from Utah, and across it was scrawled: "I am in the land of the living—that's all."

Five years have passed since then, and now Mary Sheridan wants to see the lost one.

Escaping Girl Mistakes Road and Is Captured

Had Irene Branden, twenty years old, not mistaken the river road for that which leads to the Anacostia bridge in the darkness, she might have made good her attempted escape from the Government Hospital for the Insane. She has been returned today to that institution.

According to the police of the Seventh precinct, she was found wandering about at 1 o'clock this morning, lost, on Nichols avenue, Anacostia. Policeman H. H. Tarmon, who found her, escorted her to the station house, where she gave a fictitious name. They called up the asylum, however, and learned that a Miss Branden had got away from home No. 2 by stepping out of the second-story window to a porch. The young woman held at the precinct was soon identified as the missing patient. She says her parents live on Thirtieth street northwest.

Miss Branden wore a white dress, but was bareheaded.

MARYLAND COUPLE KEPT UNION SECRET A YEAR AND A HALF

Blissful Pair Settle Here, After Long Honeymoon.

The secret marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wilton Gibson, performed at Alexandria court house, December 28, 1909, was not known to any of their kinsmen or friends until this morning when they told about it, after getting their house at 301 D street southeast in order.

Mrs. Gibson, who before her marriage was Bertha Soper, daughter of J. W. Soper, a Calvert county, Md., merchant, admitted it was remarkable the secret had been so well kept. The marriage certificate she showed was signed by the Rev. William L. Hoffman and by several witnesses.

"They were just stragglers at the court house," she said. "We did not occur to them to say anything about us. I was teaching school and had my Christmas vacation, and came over and met Mr. Gibson. We were married. That's all there was about it. Several times we have taken little trips together, but we have been apart most of the time. Every week or two he came over to see me, and we were very happy then."

"Mr. Gibson and I had been in love in Calvert county—he lived there, too. After I graduated from the Western Maryland College, at Westminster, I went home and taught at the Wilsons School. He wanted me to marry him, but I knew I should lose my position if I married. We went to Virginia because nobody knew us there. That was all the reason we had. On my Christmas vacation we had a little honeymoon trip. Perhaps we shall have another this summer."

Mrs. Gibson said she had let her parents know about the marriage, and that they had written "best wishes." She and Mr. Gibson have the third floor and Mrs. Gibson already has made it into a pretty little home.

"That's all there is to say," she said. "We are married and have a home. We are very happy."

Senator Cummins, chairman, hopes to have his Civil Service Committee take up the question of a general overhauling of the civil service laws next winter.

MARRYING JUSTICE DENIED A FEE, BUT NEWLYWEDS FEAST

Bridegroom Who Was
"Broke" Later Pays Big
Food Bill.

NEW YORK, June 26.—With the first glimmer of dawn tinting the sky, a man, who gave the name of Lester M. Carney and said he was a clerk, of 673 Park place, Brooklyn, and a woman, who said she was Miss Annie L. Wigley, of 101 West 106th street, Manhattan, were married in the police station in Jersey City at 3 o'clock yesterday morning. The nuptial knot was tied by Justice of the Peace Thomas Steele.

The couple entered the police station with C. Fiteger, of Brooklyn, and Miss Inez Dease, of New York, at 2 o'clock and announced their desire to be wedded. Justice Steele was in the police station, and he called up Patrick McGlynn, who issued a marriage license. The marriage ceremony was then performed.

The bride party was leaving the police station when the bridegroom was reminded that he had not paid for the license. He gave a dollar, but when the justice suggested that it was customary to pay a fee for the performance of a marriage ceremony, the bridegroom said he was "broke." The bride requested a marriage certificate, whereupon the justice said that it would be forthcoming when the fee was received. Later the bride party enjoyed a wedding breakfast at a neighboring restaurant, and the bridegroom paid a check of $21, tendering a fifty-dollar bill in payment. The justice, who had followed, looked at and spoke about the fifty-dollar bill, but for all his loquacity he got no part of it.

A man who admitted that he was Mr. Carney refused to discuss the incident when seen at his home last night.

Kemper, Victim of Motor Somersault, Recovering

Physicians attending William A. Kemper, victim of a remarkable automobile accident, said today that his condition is satisfactory. Mr. Kemper, who is about fifty years old, and lives at 1st Adams Mill road, is at Georgetown University Hospital, where he was taken yesterday afternoon, in the automobile belonging to Vice President Sherman. He is badly bruised about the head and neck.

Mr. Kemper and William H. Brush, of 2433 Eighteenth street northwest, went motoring yesterday. They had reached a point near Glen Echo, Md., on the Conduit road, when Brush, who was driving, attempted to avoid striking another car. Brush's car skidded, hung a moment on the edge of a steep embankment, and then turned a complete somersault.

H. E. Detendorf, secretary to the Vice President, and a party of friends, were in the Vice President's car near by. Detendorf placed Kemper in the car and took him to the hospital. Brush was not injured.

SLAYER HYSTERICAL AS HE SEES DEATH CHAIR AWAITING HIM

Murderer Tries to Flee in
New York State Prison.

AUBURN, N. Y., June 26.—His first sight of the big chair resting on its highly polished metal flooring, and with its wire attachments, threw Giuseppe Nacoo, murderer, into hysterics, as he was led into the death chamber here today.

He turned and tried to force his way back through the small door. Before he had reached the door he was checked and strapped to the chair. A moment later a current of 1,840 volts was coursing through Nacoo's body. It required two additional contacts before the victim was pronounced dead. Nacoo killed Antonio Candiano, with whom he was living, at Niagara Falls, in 1909.

TODAY—History Repeats Itself for the Second Time

S. GOLDHEIM & SONS

BEGIN THE IMMEDIATE CLEARANCE OF EVERY FABRIC IN THE HOUSE

AT $16 Over 700 Latest Pattern
Fabrics to Select From

Tailored to your measure into one of our faultless-fitting two-piece

SUITS

NOT a fabric is held in reserve. You can go over the entire seven hundred or more bolts of cloth and pick out the pattern you like best—no matter whether it be a regular $20, a $25, a $30, a $35, or a $40 Two-piece Suit. The higher price fabrics are in the majority.

We guarantee to maintain the standard, and there is none better, throughout the building of all garments. Workmanship, lining, and finish must be put in every garment just as though regular prices were charged, instead of $16.00.

We never carry a fabric over from season to season. But this is the second time in our history that we've cut every suiting in the house to one price—and to such a price—$16.00. We make the reduction greater this year in order to make the clearance quicker.

There's only about enough material in each bolt of cloth for one suit. This means that as each man orders, the range of patterns lessens just that much. Which emphasizes the advantage of immediate selection.

Ready-made clothing clearance sales lose their attraction when compared with this merchant tailoring clearance. The former represents the closing out of garments that were styled and manufactured about six months ago. Here you get a 1911 style fitted to your figure as only an establishment like S. Goldheim & Sons can tailor them—and you pay out $16.00.

Here's a chance to prove the superiority of "made-to-measure" garments at less than the price of "ready-made"
